National Coalition of Motorcyclists (NCOM) Wants Sports Bike Club

All motorcycle groups are invited to join the National Coalition of Motorcyclists (NCOM) regardless of what they ride, the patch they wear or the motorcyclists' rights organization they belong to.

Following the 6th Annual PRO Convention in New Orleans, Brian "Seven Lawson and I (Violet L. "Heels" Lucas) were contacted by James "Doc" Reichenbach II, Chairman ABATE of Florida. Doc (Mr. Reichenbach) extended the invitation to attend and speak at the 24th Annual National Coalition of Motorcyclist (NCOM) Conference in Reno, Nevada, May 7th-10th, 2009. The invitation was truly an honor, later learning even more of an honor than we would imagine.

Prior to this invitation and speaking at the 6th Annual PRO Convention, myself (Violet L. "Heels" Lucas) and a few other sports bike riders had already reached out to the Harley side, interacting and participating in their charity rides and poker runs. We were amazed to see the overwhelming sponsor support and the huge amounts that they were able to raise for such charitable causes. Through this interaction with the Harley side, we learned that they were no different than you or I and whole heartedly welcomed the sports bike community into their community, introducing us to ABATE (American Bikers Aimed Towards Education) dedicated to the preservation of motorcycling. Within a year, we encountered the unified fight against the City of Myrtle Beach for the preservation of our rights as motorcyclists.

After speaking at the 6th Annual PRO Convention in New Orleans, Doc (Mr. Reichenbach) introduced and educated me to the National Coalition of Motorcyclists (NCOM). I never imagined that I would be speaking at anyone's forum, meetings, seminars or conference, I simply spoke out because I didn't want to be discriminated because of race, gender, religion, or the fact that I ride a motorcycle, at this point, I found myself attending and speaking at many of our forum, meetings, seminars or conferences that pertained to the motorcyclists.

Through the many voices and bodies that speak or merely show up, I simply learned that we as bikers have more power than we can imagine. We are a diversified group of people made of all walk and make of life, collectively through unification, we need to educate the legislation that makes the decision about who we are, without knowing who we are.

Through Doc's (Mr. Reichenbach) invitation, I learned that the National Coalition of Motorcyclist (NCOM) is reaching out to us in the sports bike community to become apart of this organization. NCOM is not another association, but rather a bringing together of existing motorcycle groups for the purpose of mutual exchange of information, legislative strategy and the combined strength to fight all that is adverse to the freedom of the road.

Upon arriving to the 24th Annual National Coalition of Motorcyclist Conference, I was nervous about what to expect or how I would be received. What I received was more than you can imagine, to be embraced by so many with an overwhelming amount of love, respect, appreciation and the request for the sports bike community to become a part of the NCOM Family.

I sincerely appreciate the invitation and the opportunity to attend and speak at the 24th Annual NCOM Conference, but I am more appreciative of what I learned. There was an overwhelming amount of knowledge, clubs and State Representation present. The variation of clubs from, Harleys, 1% to Christian Clubs, all standing under the same umbrella for the preservation and education of motorcycle rights. To hear many of the members in attendance, continuously ask the same question as to "how can we get the sports bike community involved and become a part of NCOM" was overwhelming. NCOM has opened the door to the sports bike community and they are asking, waiting and welcoming us to come in. The laws that affects one, affects all. Collectively, we must bridge the gap and bring UNITY within the COMMUNITY.

On behalf of NCOM, please join the National Coalition of Motorcyclist, there is no charge for your club to join, there is so much information to be learn and be shared, please attend the 25th Annual National Coalition of Motorcyclist Conference in Orlando, FL - May 6-9, 2010. Orlando Airport Marriott, 7499 Augusta National Drive, Orlando, FL (800) 380-6751 - $89.00 per night.
